 1h  Self-Paced

Basics of Income

Attend this foundational session to learn how to calculate the most basic types of income including: base income, hourly pay including overtime, commission, bonus income, and tip income.

You will learn to:

- Calculate base pay and discuss the nuances of including additional income sources, such as overtime, commissions and bonus pay
- Document income based on GSE requirements and when to compare to your company's guidelines
- Analyze the VOE to assess the borrower's pay history and employment status for the purposes of income qualification
- Address part time or secondary income types, employment gaps, unemployment benefits and contractual employment
- Gain a deeper understanding of the risk levels associated with income and employment

 1h  Self-Paced

Not Your Ordinary Income

Catch this sequel to Basics of Income for an introduction into more complex income types that can be used to qualify your borrower, including non-taxable income.

You will learn to:

- Understand the GSE requirements for documentation of Social Security, Child Support, Alimony, Military Income, Disability, and Retirement income
- Establish stability, predictability and continuance of these complex income sources as they relate to the risk of the loan
- Calculate and gross-up non-taxable income sources

 1h

Analyzing Schedule E Rental Income

Whether you are newer to calculating rental income or a seasoned pro looking for a refresher, this session will provide you with a laser focused review of rental income as it applies to a mortgage approval.

You will learn to:

- Understand the basic industry guidelines for calculating income and expenses derived from rental income
- Calculate rental income using the Schedule E of the Personal Tax Returns
- Utilize the FNMA Rental Income Worksheets—Form 1037 for Principal Residence or 2-4 unit properties, Form 1038 for Investment Property(s), and Form 1039 for Investment Property(s) owned by a Business Entity to calculate monthly rental income to use in a mortgage transaction
